INGREDIENTS OF THE MONTH

BAYLEAF

Bay is an evergreen tree that normally grows to 10-30 feet tall. Its leaves are dark green and 2-4 inches long and symmetrical. Bay flowers bloom in clusters and develop into dark blue berries.

Uses:

Bay leaves are slightly bitter in taste, so they are taken out of the dish. It is added when cooking, just to add aromatic flavor. It is traditional ingredient of French cuisines.

It is used in the preparations of chicken, sauces, for garnishing, added to stews and bland vegetables. They are also characteristic of the cuisines of India, Brazil, Greece, Germany, Eastern Europe, Jamaica and Scandinavia.

Medical Merits

During middle ages, it is thought to induce abortions and to ward off evil energies. It is said to have many properties to treat high blood sugar, migraine, headache, bacterial and fungal infections and gastric ulcers. Bay oils are used for bruising and sprain. Bay leaves are reported to be anti-inflammatory, anti-oxidant, anti-fungal and anti-bacterial.

Color/Flavor/Aroma

When fresh, the leaves are dark green and shiny, and when dried they turn to matte olive colour.

FAMOUS PLACES IN IRELAND

Located off the west coast of Ireland at the mouth of Galway Bay, the Aran Islands of Inish more, Inishmaan and Inisheer have attracted visitors for centuries. Isolated from the mainland, inhabitants on the islands have maintained a more traditional lifestyle than in other parts of Ireland, offering visitors a glimpse into the country's rich past. With no more than 100 vehicles allowed on Inishmore, the largest of the three islands, horse-drawn buggies carry visitors by stone farm cottages to enjoy spectacular views from limestone cliff tops. Inishmore has a 2,000-year-old stone fortress perched a top a 90-meter (300-foot) cliff that's well worth exploring too.

Aran Islands

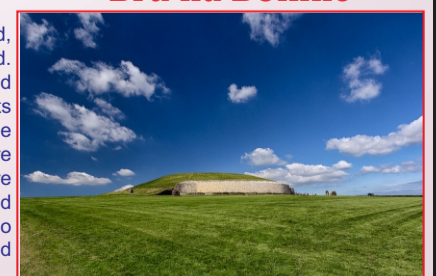

Killarney National Park

Located in southwest Ireland in County Kerry, the Killarney National Park was established in 1932 when the Muckross Estate was donated to the country. The Victorian Muckross House now serves as the park's visitor center, and the estate's extensive gardens are popular attractions in the park. For many visitors, however, the park's three lakes are the biggest draw. Populated by swans and otters and surrounded by forests inhabited by Ireland's only native herd of red deer, boat trips on the lake offer encounters with wildlife as well as scenic views. A broad network of surfaced paths invites exploration by foot, bicycle or horse-drawn carriage.

Bru na Boinne

Remnants from Ireland's ancient past are found all over Ireland, but the Brú na Bóinne mounds in Boyne Valley are not to be missed. Three of the 5,000-year-old burial mounds have been fully excavated and are open to visitors: Newgrange, Knowth and Dowth. With its carved granite boulders and white quartz façade, Newgrange is the most striking. A central passage leads to vaulted chambers where cremated remains and grave goods from at least five people were found. The mound of Knowth is best known for its 250 decorated stones, some of which appear to be local maps. There is no public access inside Dowth, but visitors can climb the mound to enjoy the view.
