TOP TOURIST ATTRACTIONS IN THE WORLD

This incredible natural wonder is in the U.S. state of Arizona. It's one of those beautiful places for which photos or video just don't do it justice-its sheer size and scope is hard to comprehend.

With geology formed over the past two billion years, yes billion, the 277 mile-long canyon itself is believed to have been started around five to six million years ago. It was formed by the flow of the Colorado River, which still flows through it and continues to erode the geology along its course. The Grand Canyon is up to 18 miles wide in places and up to a mile deep. Imagine standing on the edge, looking down a sheer rock wall almost a mile to the river below.

THE GRAND CANYON, ARIZONA

ROME, ITALY

The Eternal City is more like a giant, living museum. Visitors are immersed in and surrounded by thousands of years of history. It's a relatively compact city, and a three-day itinerary gets you to the minimum number of must-see places.

These must-see sites for any visitor include the Colosseum and adjacent Roman Forum; the Pantheon; and Vatican City, a separate country in the middle of central Rome.

Take some time to explore the outskirts of Rome, too. Consider a hike along a tomb-lined section of the Appian Way, the ancient Roman superhighway, and a visit to one of the aqueduct ruins outside the city.

An old lady comes in for her medical check-up: "Doctor Ribbit, you remember how you warned me that I should avoid going up and down stairs as much as I can?"

"Yes," agrees the doctor, "the last X-rays made that very clear Mrs. Jenkins."

"You know, I'm not sure it was such a great idea doctor... I have to say all that climbing up and down the rainwater downpipe is becoming quite hard!"

Most people turn to vitamin C after they've caught a cold. That's because it helps build up your immune system. Vitamin C is thought to increase the production of white blood cells. These are key to fighting infections.

Popular citrus fruits include:

➤ Grapefruit ➤ Oranges ➤ Tangerines ➤ Lemons ➤ Limes ➤ Clementines

Because your body doesn't produce or store it, you need daily vitamin C for continued health. Almost all citrus fruits are high in vitamin C. With such a variety to choose from, it's easy to add a squeeze of this vitamin to any meal.

Broccoli

Broccoli is supercharged with vitamins and minerals. Packed with vitamins A, C, and E, as well as many other antioxidants and fiber, broccoli is one of the healthiest vegetables you can put on your table. The key to keeping its power intact is to cook it as little as possible — or better yet, not at all.

Ginger

Ginger is another ingredient many turn to after getting sick. Ginger may help decrease inflammation, which can help reduce a sore throat and other inflammatory illnesses. Ginger may also help decrease nausea.

While it's used in many sweet desserts, ginger packs some heat in the form of

Almonds

When it comes to preventing and fighting off colds, vitamin E tends to take a backseat to vitamin C. However, vitamin E is key to a healthy immune system. It's a fat-soluble vitamin, meaning it requires the presence of fat to be absorbed properly. Nuts, such as almonds, are packed with the vitamin and also have healthy fats. A half-cup serving, which is about 46 whole, shelled almonds, provides nearly 100 percent of the recommended daily amount of vitamin E.

Turmeric

When it comes to preventing and fighting off colds, vitamin E tends to take a backseat to vitamin C. However, vitamin E is key to a healthy immune system. It's a fat-soluble vitamin, meaning it requires the presence of fat to be absorbed properly. Nuts, such as almonds, are packed with the vitamin and also have healthy fats. A half-cup serving, which is about 46 whole, shelled almonds, provides nearly 100 percent of the recommended daily amount of vitamin E.

Garlic

Garlic is found in almost every cuisine in the world. It adds a little zing to food and it's a must-have for your health. Early civilizations recognized its value in fighting infections. According to the National Center for Complementary and Integrative Health Trusted Source, garlic may also help lower blood pressure and slow down hardening of the arteries. Garlic's immune-boosting properties seem to come from a heavy concentration of sulfur-containing compounds, such as allicin.

Yogurt

Look for yogurts that have "live and active cultures" printed on the label, like Greek yogurt. These cultures may stimulate your immune system to help fight diseases. Try to get plain yogurts rather than the kinds that are preflavored and loaded with sugar. You can sweeten plain yogurt yourself with healthy fruits and a drizzle of honey instead.

Yogurt can also be a great source of vitamin D, so try to select brands fortified with vitamin D. Vitamin D helps regulate the immune system and is thought to boost our body's natural defenses against diseases.

Spinach

Spinach made our list not just because it's rich in vitamin C. It's also packed with numerous antioxidants and beta carotene, which may increase the infection-fighting ability of our immune systems. Similar to broccoli, spinach is healthiest when it's cooked as little as possible so that it retains its nutrients. However, light cooking enhances its vitamin A and allows other nutrients to be released from oxalic acid.

Health Tips!

If you're feeling anxious and stressed, eat a melon. Melons help relieve anxiety and stress, plus they boost your metabolism.

QUOTES FOR THE MONTH

- ★ A leader is one who knows the way, goes the way and shows the way.
- ★ If your actions inspire others to dream more, learn more, do more and become more, you are a leader.
- ★ No man will make a great leader who wants to do it all himself or get all the credit for doing it.
- ★ I never thought in terms of being a leader. I thought very simply in terms of helping people.
- ★ A good leader inspires others with confidence in him; a great leader inspires them with confidence in themselves.

SOCIAL DISTANCING' WINES FROM TUSSOCK JUMPER

Wine of the Month

It's still Summer weather, and in the 'new normal' of 2020, that means lighter fare, grilled foods, and more importantly, social distanced picnics and an increased focus on outdoor dining and sipping, as well as low contact personal serving sizes. To meet these changing consumer needs, as well as growing demand for their wines, Tri-Vin Imports has expanded distribution of their new single serve line, and is also bringing in diverse varietals from around the globe, including a fruit-forward, dry Chenin Blanc from the Stellenbosch region of South Africa.

Retailers are especially excited about the packaging of Tussock Jumper's single serves, and have commented that they're incredibly convenient for outdoor activities, ideal for adding to take-out meals, and even 'float in the water'- just in case water activities are on the agenda!

Tips for before the interview

- ☞ Start by researching the company and your interviewers. Understanding key information about the company you're interviewing with can help you go into your interview with confidence. Using the company's website, social media posts and recent press releases will provide a solid understanding of the company's goals and how your background makes you a great fit. Review our Complete Guide to Researching a Company.
- ☞ Practice your answers to common interview questions. Prepare your answer to the common question: "Tell me about yourself, and why are you interested in this role with our company?" The idea is to quickly communicate who you are and what value you will bring to the company and the role - it's your personal elevator pitch.
- ☞ Reread the job description. You may want to print it out and begin underlining specific skills the employer is looking for. Think about examples from your past and current work that align with these requirements.
- ☞ Recruit a friend to practice answering questions. Actually practicing your answers out loud is an incredibly effective way to prepare. Say them to yourself or ask a friend to help run through questions and answers. You'll find you gain confidence as you get used to saying the words.

Tongue Twisters

Silly Sally swiftly shooed seven silly sheep.
The seven silly sheep Silly Sally shooed
Shilly-shallied south.
These sheep shouldn't sleep in a shack;
Sheep should sleep in a shed.
